

“(Bob) explains clearly the differences between the military world and the civilian corporate world and how to navigate the transition between the two. The advice and instruction in Transitions 2.0 is so effective that I would recommend it to anyone—military and nonmilitary persons who are making a midlife transition in their career and desire to make a difference in a new direction.”

Hyrum W. Smith, founder and former chairman and CEO of FranklinCovey and founder of 3 Gaps in his foreword to Transitions 2.0

Bob Ulin is the former Chairman and CEO of the Center for Transitional Leadership, Inc. He’s a retired army colonel, retired vice president of a technology company, retired CEO of a nonprofit corporation and serves as a board member and executive of several companies and organizations.

Bob is the author of five books. His newest book Transitions 2.0. A Field Guide for Mid-Career Professionals and Veterans Seeking New Challenges in the Business World, 2017 is available from Amazon.com.
